COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The town crew has been busy thawing culverts and catch basins to allow the melting snow to run off. Waterways have been cut in the banks of most back roads to take care of any large amount of run off we might get from rain. Most of the dirt roads are getting muddy and it looks as though they will be muddy for quite a while.

The assessors will be in session Monday, April 1, to receive the lists of property. The notice for the session is printed in the paper and posted in town. The forms in the town report have been sent in by a lot of people. A supply of the forms are available for people who didn't receive a town report.

I attended the assessors and tax collectors school at Rumford last Friday with two of the assessors. The representative from the state tax bureau said it was the largest gathering of assessors and tax collectors ever to attend the Rumford meetings. Changes in the laws were explained by the tax bureau representatives. Assessing and tax collection procedures were explained and questions from the group were answered by the men from the tax bureau. It is reassuring to get together with a group of assessors and collectors to talk over mutual problems. The two assessors had several questions that were answered concerning local tax problems.

Quick Morning Fire Takes Sweetser Home, Restaurant

The three apartment home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sweetser on Main Street was entirely destroyed in a fire lasting less than an hour Tuesday forenoon. Their "Harvey's Restaurant" nearby was gutted and its contents a total loss at the same time.

The alarm for the flash fire, the cause of which is not known, was sounded at about 10:20. By the time apparatus arrived at the scene a very few minutes later, the entire two and a half story building was in flames. Occupants of the house besides the Sweetser and two sons were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roy and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waite and two children. All at home at the time escaped safely.

The home of Donald Brooks only a few feet away was badly scorched and many windows were broken. The portions of the buildings nearest the blaze were afire for some time. Four front windows and the glass door were cracked in the Brooks Brothers store across the street and flying embers started small fires over a considerable area which were soon quenched.

The local firemen and volunteers did excellent work in confining the damage. Help was called from the Rumford and Woodstock fire departments and both arrived without delay. With little space between buildings on both sides of the street, a considerable area was threatened when the fire was at its height.

The local firemen and volunteers did excellent work in confining the damage. Help was called from the Rumford and Woodstock fire departments and both arrived without delay. With little space between buildings on both sides of the street, a considerable area was threatened when the fire was at its height.

The restaurant had been completely refinished only two months ago, and the Sweetser apartment was being remodeled at the time. The larger house was built in 1913-14 by Fred J. Tibbets, following a fire on that site on March 19, 1913. The other building had been used for a restaurant the past 20 years and previously was a store, shoe repair shop and residence at various times.

The loss which may run to $50,000 was partially insured. Plans for rebuilding are yet uncertain, but the Sweetser recently purchased parking space adjacent to the post office building which with the site of the destroyed buildings will provide ample room for new construction.

Due to the intense heat it was impossible to work near the fire. Insulated clothing and shields improvised from metal roofing gave protection in saving the Donald Brooks home and fighting the restaurant fire.

Clothing and furnishings for the burned out families are being collected at Steve's Garage at Mechanic and Summer Streets.

RIVERSIDE FARMS COMPLETES ANOTHER MODERNIZATION PHASE

In the past week a local dairy completed another phase of modernization. On March 19 Riverside Farms began store milk deliveries of new plastic coated paper milk cartons. Plastic means a no leak seal and no wax "fall-out" to the housewife. By introducing this latest in dairy industry development, the climax of a one-year improvement program has been reached.

Through a management revision in early 1962, Riverside Farms, which was first to offer pasteurized milk to Bethel citizens and students, has been able to provide the local community with a more healthful, sanitary dairy service. The advantages of local service, responsive to customer desires, locally produced milk and modern processing equipment have been combined for right at the door step convenience.

Operated by E. E. Bennett, Riverside Farms started serving Bethel with daily milk deliveries in 1917. Then on October 1, 1940, E. E. Bennett processed his first 150 gallons of pasteurized milk, thereby insuring his customers against the ravages of disease transmitted by raw milk. Upon its introduction in 1955, homogenized products were tried and immediately accepted. More than 90 percent of the milk sold in Bethel last year was homogenized, pasteurized milk.

In the past decade widespread quality control procedures have brought increased benefits to the country's consumers of milk, cream, cheese and all associated dairy products.

Today through the ultra-new from the ground up processing plant at Breaux Dairy in Rumford the milk drinkers of Bethel have again benefitted from technological advances. Milk produced at local government inspected farms is transported in a bulk tank truck free of exposure to contamination to the Rumford processing plant. From the truck again without exposure to outside elements it is clarified, pasteurized with Vitamin D added, homogenized and sealed into freshly sterilized bottles or paper cartons. A paper hood or inversion folded paper seal protects the pouring

NEW YEAR STARTS MAR. 31 FOR UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

A new benefit year for unemployment compensation starts March 31, the Maine Employment Security Commission states.

All benefits paid for any week of unemployment after that date will be based on 1962 earnings.

The W-2 withholding tax forms, showing 1962 earnings, should be presented to the nearest State Employment Office by anyone filing a first claim for the new benefit year. This information is necessary in processing such claims, the MESOC said.

Present law permits a minimum benefit payment of $9 a week for those who earned at least $400 in insured employment in the preceding calendar year, and a maximum of $34 for those who earned $2,900 or more.

Maximum payments to any individual during any benefit year under the regular state unemployment insurance program are the equivalent of 26 weeks of benefits for total unemployment.

contamination during delivery, edges of the container from contamination during delivery. Instant pasteurization, a quick heating process, and rapid cooling enable the milk product to retain its wholesome, original flavor.

All of these steps up the ladder of continuous improvement has helped milk retain its position as your number one food for health.

CARD OF THANKS

I do not know how to express my thanks and appreciation to all the kind people who made my birthday such a pleasant one, with beautiful flowers and cards and even a birthday cake which was also beautiful.

Since then the cards have kept coming, many from unexpected places and it means so much to know that people are thinking of me.

"Thank you" seems so little to say for all these kindnesses but I say it with all my heart.

A lot of Communist eyes are watching the financial strength of our government and of our people like hawks. That's because their leaders have said they would "bury us" economically—and they're waiting for it to happen.

It must be a continuing disappointment to them that, year after year, U.S. savers put so much of their savings in U.S. Savings Bonds.

This stake that Savings Bond owners now have in the strength of our country is more than $45 billion—an all-time high.

And because savers can get their money back when they need it, that's financial strength for millions of individuals and families.

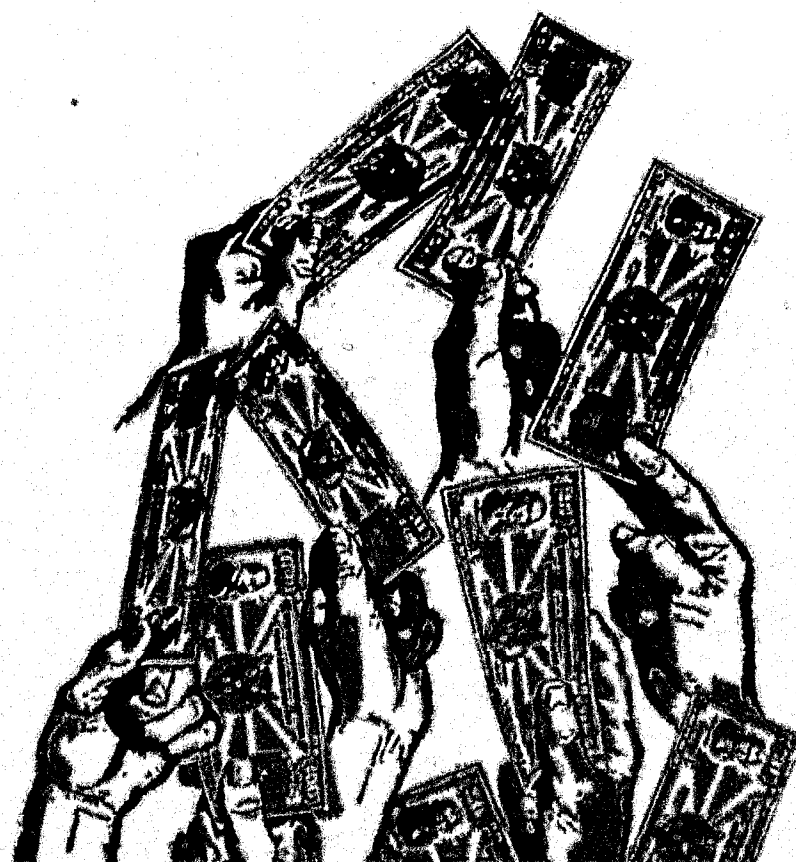

Your dollars in Savings Bonds do stand up to be counted—as a measure of the strength of our country and our people.

Read John 3:16-21
God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. (John 3:17.)

The story preceding the Scripture reading given above tells us about Nicodemus. In it we have an example of the spiritual ignorance of Nicodemus in spite of his education. We also see an example of disbelief in spite of the offer Jesus gave. This portion of the Gospel includes the beautiful statement—John 3:16—of the meaning of Jesus' mission.

Through Jesus Christ we fashion God's pardoning love. It is noteworthy that this is for the whole world. May there be no people who boast of being the only nation pardoned by God's love. May all people rejoice in the privilege of being the object of God's pardoning love!

Therefore, let cold war cease! May there be a stop to the arms race! May we realize the futility of these things. Through the love of God in Christ the whole world must be saved.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, Thou art love. Help us to be possessed of love like Thine that it may be the governing force in our lives. In the name of Christ, who proclaimed Thy love and taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven.... Amen."

Thought For The Day

May the peoples of all the nations rejoice in being the objects of God's pardoning love.

POLICE CHIEF STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF AUTO INSPECTION OF MONTH

Col. Robert Marx, chief, Maine State Police, today reminded Maine motorists that April will be semi-annual motor vehicle inspection month.

"In this connection, the chief pointed out that the law reads, in part, 'Every person who is the owner or in control of a motor vehicle registered and operated upon the highways of the State, shall submit such vehicle for semi-annual inspection.... to determine the proper adjustment and sufficiency of the following required equipment: brakes, lights, running gear, wheels, tires, horns, windshields, mechanical windshield wipers, rear view mirrors, reflectors, and mufflers.'"

Col. Marx emphasized that the one dollar fee which motorists pay is for a complete and thorough inspection of the above-named equipment, not the purchase price of an inspection sticker. The sticker is placed upon the windshield to indicate that the car has been thoroughly checked and that it has satisfactorily met the inspection requirements. If the inspecting station completes a thorough inspection, it is entitled to its one dollar fee, even though the car does not qualify for a sticker.

The State Police chief pointed out that, in last fall's inspection period during October, many motorists waited until the final week or ten days of the month before taking care of this legal requirement. Several inspecting stations reported that many drivers were forced to leave their cars in station parking lots for several hours awaiting their turn for inspection during the last few days of the month.

Residence, Lincoln Avenue, Rumford, at 8 p. m. Tuesday, April 2. The extra effort to be present at this meeting will add greatly to the efficiency of the planning, and to the success and enjoyment of the Ball.

20 SECONDS with the NAZARENE

Looking ahead to the cross, Christ declared, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." Jesus Christ was God! He died to free men from sin! And today, in this Easter season, He draws us unto Himself. As the African native observed, "The Cross of Christ condemns us to be saints!"

COUNTRY FLAVOR

ABANDONED ORCHARD

There is something poignantly appealing about old apple trees. They are gaunt and scraggly. A few tall limbs reach skyward, and in the spring pink and white blossoms with golden hearts open to the sun.

The time-ravaged trees are filled with suckers and stubs of dead branches; some of the big trunks are hollow with age and weather-induced decay. In March sunshine, above the shrunken, granular snow, one can see the typical, blue-gray, almost lavender tinge of the bark on the boles.

Just an abandoned orchard, thinks the thoughtless person as he looks at the hillside. But to him who is sensitive to the history of his nation, the orchard on the slope behind the cellar hole tells a meaningful story.

It may have been close to a century ago when a man and his bride set those Nodheads, Northern Spies, Round Sweets and Blue Pearmaines. They tended the growing trees, and when time was fulfilled there were barrels of good fruit to store in the earth-floored cellar.

Time passed and the young folks moved to cities. The barn and the house burned and only the tall chimney stands, a monument to courage and dreams. Now the old apple trees droop through the cycling seasons.

In the spring and summer bluebirds and woodpeckers make their homes in hollow limbs, and in the fall the deer come from the woodlands to eat the fallen apples. In the heart of winter, partridges fly from the evergreens and eat the fruit buds.

Goodbye old apple trees. Long years ago men cared for you and were grateful for the generous crops. Boys and girls helped pick the fruit, and laughter and voices sounded on this hillside. Now all is quiet—just an abandoned orchard waiting for the forest to take close in. You have played your role well and the blossoms that will give fragrance this spring, are banners that tell a heart-lifting story.

BINGHAM BETTERMENT FUND GIVES SCHOLARSHIP HONORING PAYSON SMITH

A scholarship grant in honor of the late Dr. Payson Smith has been made to the University of Maine by trustees of the Betterment Fund created by the will of the late William Bingham, 2nd, of Bethel.

University of Maine President Lloyd H. Elliott said the trustees of the funds have provided for an annual grant of $1,000 to go to students who intend to enter the field of education. Preference will be given to acceptable candidates from Bethel, from some other town in Oxford County, or from elsewhere in Maine, in that order.

The grant was made to the State University in honor of Dr. Smith's 90th birthday which occurred Feb. 11. Dr. Smith died at a Portland hospital on March 11.

Early in February the trustees of the Betterment Fund notified Dr. Smith that they were creating the scholarship in his honor. They wired him in part: "In honor of your 90th birthday, Mr. Bingham's trustees are establishing a scholarship in your name at the University of Maine recognizing you for your illustrious leadership."

Dr. Smith replied in part as follows: "The scholarship, which is to bear my name, has for me a special meaning because it represents the unity of private and public education. Both are dedicated to the single basic purpose of the schools, namely, the extension of educational opportunities for the youth of Maine."

A native of Maine, Dr. Smith served as commissioner of education in both Massachusetts and Maine. Later he was a lecturer at Harvard, professor and acting dean at the University of Maine. He was named professor emeritus of education at the State University on his retirement.

Payson Smith Hall at the University's Portland campus was named in his honor.

The new scholarships will be known as the "William Bingham, 2nd, scholarships in honor of Payson Smith."

The trustees of the Betterment Fund established William Bingham, 2nd, scholarships at the University of Maine in 1956. These scholarships are now fully funded at $25,000.

SHELBURNE MAN BURNED WHEN HOME DESTROYED

Percy Dunbar suffered minor burns Friday afternoon when his home in Shelburne village burned. The loss which was estimated at $15,000 to $20,000, included all clothing and furnishings in the house, besides six tons of hay, wood, and an old automobile in the barn. Due to a high wind and shortage of water the Gorham fire department was called to the assistance of the Shelburne firemen. The building was owned by Miss Elizabeth Morse, Dunbar's step-daughter, who is now in Florida.

MAGAZINE LISTS WAYS TO DETERMINE SAFE MARGINS ON CREDIT PAYMENTS

Buyers, Borrowers Cautioned On Exceeding Debt Limits

How much debt can you afford? The current issue of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, in a roundup on credit notes that each family has to determine its own margin of safety and recommends the following procedure to parallel the way a professional would figure out that margin.

First, figure out annual income and, next, deduct from it all necessary expenses. The remainder is "discretionary" income, money available for credit payments. "But this method ... has to be handled with care," the editors caution. "A few misconceived entries on the income side or omissions of expenses can give you a completely false impression of your financial position."

To guard against such errors, the magazine warns to be sure and use net income only, subtracting federal and state income taxes and other fixed deductions such as pension contributions, health insurance and union dues.

In addition, sporadic income - the wages of a young wife who may stop working when she becomes pregnant, overtime pay and bonuses - should be excluded. And every fixed expense, no matter how paltry the amount, should be subtracted from income. On costs that can only roughly be estimated, the guess should be high rather than low.

Finally, before figuring out money available for credit payments, savings should be deducted. Not impossible, according to Changing Times, "if you consider saving as an expense and set aside a regular amount for it in the budget. Without a cash reserve, binding yourself to fixed installment payments becomes a risky proposition. A relatively minor financial reverse could force you to default or borrow still more to pay your bills."

When all deductions are made, the money left is the sum which can be used for credit payments. "Suppose you have $600 left after deducting expenses from income," the article continues. "This is the money that you have been saving or spending above the level your budget indicates as the necessary minimum. Divide the $600 by 12 and the resulting $50 represents the largest monthly installments you can carry."

If nothing is left, or not enough to cover payments, the magazine suggests that "perhaps you can make a larger down payment and thereby reduce monthly installments ... or cut back on expenses somewhere.

"If you can't do either without seriously cramping your living standards, think twice about buying that new car or television set or building a swimming pool in the back yard," the article cautions. "You may be borrowing trouble."

HEALTH COUNCIL ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Bethel Area Health and Service Council will be held at the home of Mrs. John Tebbets on Eden Lane at 8 p. m. tonight (Thursday). There will be an election of officers, and following the business meeting, George W. Brown of Dixfield, will speak to the group on his work with the Walking Blood Bank, its aims, purposes, etc.

NATIONAL GUARD LAUNCHES ALL-OUT RECRUITING DRIVE

The National Guard, both Army and Air, has launched an all-out recruiting drive, Major General Donald W. McGowan, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, has announced.

Calling last year's Berlin mobilization, "the most successful in National Guard history," General McGowan stated that the Guard, both Army and Air, now occupies a position of greater importance in the defense posture of this nation than ever before.

Consequently, he said, it is vital that the Guard's strength be maintained at its maximum authorized level.

Dubbed "OPERATION BIG PUSH," this recruiting drive has been described by Guard officials as a TOTAL effort requiring every Guardsman to do his best to help the campaign along.

The Army National Guard is aiming at four men per unit per month for each of its 4,600 units during the next four months, while the Air National Guard's goal is two men per unit per month for each of its

DENIM MEN OF AMERICA

COMPOSING ROOM WORKERS

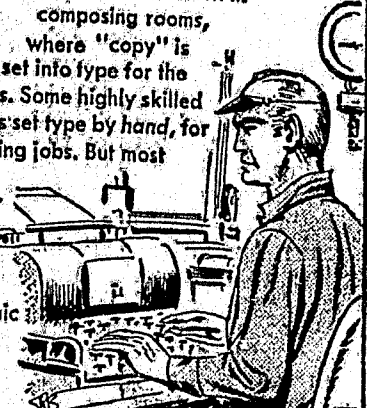

Space Age methods hit the printing industry last August—when images of American newspaper pages were transmitted 5,000 miles into space and back! Bouncing signals off TELSTAR, the communication satellite, the "New York Times" flashed news to Paris 162 times faster than possible by cable!

Space satellites may soon be used this way to publish a world-wide daily newspaper. Electronic systems demand new skills from 333,000 denim wearing printing craftsmen, who produce our 12,000 newspapers—as well as books, ads, magazines, stationery and greeting cards. Over 180,000 men in denim work in composing rooms, where "copy" is set into type for the presses. Some highly skilled compositors set type by hand, for extra-fine printing jobs. But most type-setters run machines that automatically form lines of words into metal strips. Latest methods of casting include punched paper, photographic film—and magnetic sound tape that is "heard" by the composing machine!
